ORDER:

The Unique Identification Authority of India has been mandated to issue Unique Identification Numbers to all residents of the country.

2. During the process of enrolment for Unique ID number – ‘Aadhaar’, in order to ensure the collection of demographic data correctly, a verification procedure is prescribed to verify the identity and address of the residents. As per the defined standards, the residents have to produce Proof of Identity/Address documents for scrutiny/verification by the Registrars or their authorized representatives. For residents without documented Proof of Identity/ Proof of Address, to enroll them for Unique ID number, a system called “Introducers” is adopted. These Introducers shall be enrolled first and ‘Aadhaar’ generated for them. These Introducers have a crucial responsibility while introducing persons known to them and any wrong or fraudulent introduction will lead to penal action.

3. The Commissioner of Civil Supplies and Ex- Officio Secretary to Government, Consumer Affairs, Food and Civil Supplies Department and Registrar for Phase-I UID Project has proposed an initial list of Introducers and the Government after careful examination notifies the following categories as “Introducers”:

1. Members of Parliament
2. Members of State Legislative Assembly
3. Members of State Legislative Council
4. Elected representatives of Zilla Parishads, Mandal Praja Parishads and Gram Panchayats.
5. Elected representatives of Municipal Bodies and Urban Local Self Government Institutes.
6. All Gazetted Officers of State and Central Governments
7. Concerned Mandal Revenue Inspector of the area, Village Revenue Officer of the concerned village.

Contd..2.

8. Postmen in their respective jurisdiction with the concurrence of Postal Department.
9. Authorized Representatives of reputed NGOs and Civil Society Outreach Organizations to cover the homeless, street children, beggars and such disadvantaged sections of society as notified by the Government from time to time on the proposals of the Registrars of UID Project.
